

KORE.AI COMPETITIVE INTELLIGENCE

Competitive Signal Report

Topic: Enterprise agentic AI & contact-center AI (CCAI) · Window: last 72h · Saturday, 25 July 2026 · 10:47 IST
Prepared by Kore.ai Competitive Intelligence

Bottom line: Sierra's aggressive acquisition strategy in long-horizon AI agents, coupled with Agentforce's continued rapid ARR growth and ServiceNow's strategic AI platform expansion, highlight the intensifying competition in agentic AI. Kore.ai must continue to emphasize its proven, enterprise-grade platform's deterministic execution and comprehensive analyst validation against these rapidly evolving, well-funded players.

Sierra Acquires Takeoff for Long-Horizon Agents

WHAT HAPPENED

Sierra announced its acquisition of Takeoff, a startup focused on long-horizon AI agents, integrating its capabilities into a new platform called "Horizon." (2026-07-24) CMSWire WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
This acquisition directly challenges Kore.ai's position in advanced agent capabilities. We should highlight our ABL's compile-time validation for deterministic execution, ensuring reliability even in complex, long-horizon scenarios, contrasting with potential risks of emergent behavior in LLM-native approaches.

Agentforce Surges with Government AI Deals and Strong ARR Growth

WHAT HAPPENED

Salesforce's Agentforce platform secured a significant $1.6 billion contract with the VA to transform veteran care and services. (2026-07-24) Salesforce Concurrently, Agentforce ARR crossed $1 billion. (2026-07-23) TIKR.com
WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI

Agentforce's rapid ARR growth and government wins demonstrate strong market momentum, particularly in large enterprise deals. Our counter is to emphasize the predictable, per-outcome pricing of Kore.ai's platform versus Agentforce's credit-based model, which can lead to "credit anxiety" and unpredictable TCO for customers, especially as autonomous agents drive continuous interactions.

ServiceNow Expands AI Capabilities with Focus on Enterprise Transformation

WHAT HAPPENED

ServiceNow is actively integrating AI across its platform, with recent news highlighting its use of AI to transform marketing and a CIO discussing the training of new AI service agents. (2026-07-24) Adobe for Business The company's AI advantage is noted by Bank of America, suggesting a strategic push to leverage AI for broader enterprise solutions. (2026-07-24) thestreet.com WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
ServiceNow's continued focus on AI platform expansion, particularly in agent training and enterprise transformation, reinforces the market trend towards agentic capabilities. We should continue to highlight Kore.ai's comprehensive, purpose-built CX platform and its superior analyst validation in the conversational AI for CX space, contrasting with ServiceNow's ITSM-centric origins and reliance on third-party voice.

AT A GLANCE

ON THE RADAR

Watch for

- Continued integration and market positioning of Sierra's "Horizon" platform post-Takeoff acquisition.
- Salesforce's continued push of Agentforce into voice and broader CX use cases, especially in regulated industries.
- ServiceNow's ongoing consolidation of AI capabilities under the "Otto" umbrella and its impact on enterprise adoption.

SO WHAT — DO THIS NOW

Recommended actions

- Emphasize Kore.ai's proven leadership in enterprise conversational AI for CX in analyst briefings and sales enablement, highlighting our top-tier placements in Gartner and Forrester.
- Arm sales with specific talking points on the predictability and cost-efficiency of Kore.ai's per-outcome pricing versus the potential "credit anxiety" of consumption-based models like Salesforce's Agentforce.
- Develop messaging that contrasts Kore.ai's purpose-built, unified CX platform with the "stitched-together" approach of acquired capabilities, particularly relevant for NICE/Cognigy and ServiceNow's evolving AI stacks.
- Continue to stress the deterministic execution and compile-time validation of Kore.ai's ABL as a critical differentiator for complex, long-horizon agentic workflows, countering the inherent risks of purely LLM-driven approaches.
