Bottom line: Salesforce's Agentforce is showing strong ARR growth but faces persistent questions around pricing predictability and its reliance on third-party telephony for voice, creating an opening for Kore.ai's integrated, omnichannel, and transparently priced platform. ServiceNow's continued integration of its platform for enterprise AI adoption signals a deepening of its ITSM-centric approach, reinforcing Kore.ai's advantage in purpose-built, enterprise-wide CX AI.

WHAT MATTERS THIS RUN

Three signals that matter

Salesforce Agentforce ARR Surges Amidst Pricing and Voice Gaps

(finance.biggo.com) (2026-08-21) Salesforce partners not seeing meaningful revenue from Agentforce AI platform, report says. (The Register) (2026-08-22) Salesforce Aims to End the 'Frankenstein' Contact Center With Agentforce. (TechRepublic) WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
This highlights the persistent challenge Salesforce faces in translating ARR into partner and customer value, and their reliance on external voice infrastructure. Kore.ai can emphasize its integrated, voice-native omnichannel platform and transparent, outcome-based pricing to counter Agentforce's complexity and potential for overages.

ServiceNow Expands Partnership for Enterprise AI Adoption

This reinforces ServiceNow's strategy of embedding AI within its existing ITSM and workflow platform, rather than offering a standalone, purpose-built CX AI solution. Kore.ai can highlight its dedicated, enterprise-grade CX AI platform and its proven success in transforming customer service operations, contrasting with ServiceNow's ITSM-centric approach.

PolyAI Integrates with Epic, Targeting Healthcare Scale

WHAT HAPPENED
(2026-08-21) PolyAI launches direct integration with Epic, with PDS Health among the first to deploy at scale. (AOL.COM) WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
While PolyAI is making strides in a specific vertical with a key partner, this reinforces its voice-first, niche focus. Kore.ai can leverage its broader, proven omnichannel capabilities and its own strong presence in healthcare (with pre-built vertical apps) to demonstrate superior enterprise-wide CX automation and a more comprehensive solution beyond voice-only integrations.
