Competitive Signal Report

Topic: Enterprise agentic AI & contact-center AI (CCAI) · Window: last 72h · Wednesday, 24 June 2026 · 22:40 IST
Prepared by Kore.ai Competitive Intelligence

Bottom line: Five9 is aggressively pushing new Voice AI Agents, directly challenging Kore.ai in core contact center automation, while Salesforce's Agentforce continues its horizontal expansion across business functions, potentially diluting its CX focus. These moves create immediate opportunities for Kore.ai to highlight its specialized, analyst-validated leadership in governed, omnichannel conversational AI for CX.

WHAT MATTERS THIS RUN

Three signals that matter

Five9 Challenges Voice Automation with New Agents

WHAT HAPPENED
(2026-06-24) Five9 launched new Voice AI Agents designed to replace traditional IVRs, emphasizing human oversight as central to its strategy at CCW (CX Today; Directors Club News; CMSWire). WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
This is a direct competitive play into high-value voice automation. Kore.ai can undercut Five9's structurally exposed seat-based pricing model and highlight its ABL for deterministic, auditable agent behavior, contrasting with Five9's newer AI governance and implied reliance on "human oversight" for trust.

Salesforce Agentforce Expands Horizontally Beyond CX

WHAT HAPPENED
(2026-06-24) Salesforce's Agentforce is broadening its application across retail revenue, marketing workflows, fan engagement (VCARB deployment), and revenue management (Petty Products deployment), signaling a push for horizontal agentic AI across its cloud ecosystem (The Futurum Group; Techzine Global; CX Today; Business Wire). WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
Salesforce's wide-ranging focus creates an opening to position Kore.ai as the specialized, analyst-validated Leader in customer-facing conversational AI. This contrasts with Salesforce's broader CRM/ITSM platform, which has known challenges with pricing predictability and platform lock-in for dedicated CX use cases.
