WHAT MATTERS THIS RUN

Three signals that matter

ServiceNow Unifies Agentic AI under "Otto"

WHAT HAPPENED

WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
ServiceNow's consolidation under "Otto" highlights the market's need for integrated agentic platforms, but Kore.ai's ABL offers superior compile-time validation and deterministic execution, crucial for regulated CX workflows where ServiceNow's ITSM-centric approach may fall short.

IBM Positions watsonx Orchestrate as a "Control Plane"

WHAT HAPPENED
Agentic Control Plane in IBM watsonx Orchestrate: One place to control every AI agent. (2026-07-02) IBM WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
IBM's "control plane" narrative underscores the complexity of managing diverse AI models, an area where Kore.ai's ABL excels by providing a unified, provider-agnostic framework with built-in governance and deterministic execution, mitigating the risks associated with IBM's fragmented approach and reliance on external models for CX.

PolyAI Recognized Among UK's Fastest-Growing Businesses

WHAT HAPPENED
Five AI firms feature in UK's fastest-growing businesses. (2026-07-03) IT Brief UK WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
While PolyAI gains recognition for growth, Kore.ai's established leadership in true omnichannel CX, supported by top-tier analyst validation (Gartner, Forrester), offers a more robust and scalable platform for enterprises requiring comprehensive voice and digital engagement, not just voice-first solutions.
