

KORE.AI COMPETITIVE INTELLIGENCE

Competitive Signal Report

Topic: Enterprise agentic AI & contact-center AI (CCAI) · Window: last 72h · Wednesday, 19 August 2026 · 08:28 IST
Prepared by Kore.ai Competitive Intelligence

Bottom line: Competitors are increasingly highlighting their AI agent capabilities, but often struggle with predictable pricing and true omnichannel integration. Kore.ai's ABL and unified platform provide a clear counter to these emerging weaknesses, particularly against incumbents bolting on AI and startups with narrow focus.

ServiceNow Targets APAC with Unified AI Platform

WHAT HAPPENED
(2026-08-19) ServiceNow is focusing on AI visibility, security, and channel scale for growth in the APAC region, indicating a strategic push to broaden its AI agent platform's reach and adoption. CRN Asia WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
This signals ServiceNow's continued investment in its agentic platform, reinforcing the need for Kore.ai to highlight its own robust, cross-platform AI capabilities and superior analyst validation in the enterprise CX space.

Salesforce Agentforce Faces Revenue Model Scrutiny

WHAT HAPPENED
(2026-08-18) AI agents are posing a threat to Salesforce and ServiceNow's traditional seat-license revenue models, suggesting a market shift towards consumption-based or outcome-oriented pricing that challenges existing subscription structures. finance.biggo.com WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
This validates Kore.ai's ABL pricing strategy, which offers predictable cost-per-outcome and avoids the "seat-license" model's vulnerability to AI-driven deflection, allowing us to position our TCO as more stable and scalable.

PolyAI Integrates with Epic, Expanding Healthcare Reach

WHAT HAPPENED
(2026-08-18) PolyAI has launched direct integration with Epic, enabling large-scale deployment at healthcare providers like PDS Health, enhancing its presence in the healthcare vertical. PR Newswire WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
While PolyAI strengthens its healthcare niche, Kore.ai can leverage its own pre-built vertical solutions and broader analyst validation to highlight our platform's comprehensive, omnichannel capabilities that extend beyond voice-first healthcare applications.
