Bottom line: Competitors are doubling down on agentic AI capabilities, with Genesys and Salesforce making significant plays to integrate AI deeper into their platforms. Kore.ai's ABL and proven analyst leadership remain key differentiators against these evolving offerings.

Genesys Reinforces Agentic Orchestration with New AI Control Plane

WHAT HAPPENED
Genesys announced its new AI Control Plane for CX Orchestration, aiming to enhance trusted enterprise agentic experience orchestration, alongside a revamped agentic orchestration layer. (2026-09-02) CMSWire and (2026-09-02) Techzine Global WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
Genesys is emphasizing orchestration and a unified AI layer, mirroring Kore.ai's platform approach. Our ABL's compile-time validation offers superior determinism and governance compared to their potentially more loosely coupled orchestration.

Salesforce Agentforce Pushes Production Workflows with Winter '27 Release

WHAT HAPPENED
Salesforce announced its Winter '27 release for Agentforce, highlighting AI agents now running full enterprise workflows in production, positioning it as a growth catalyst. (2026-09-01) Tech Times and (2026-08-31) Salesforce WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
Salesforce continues to push the narrative of AI agents handling complex workflows. Our proven analyst leadership in conversational AI for customer service, coupled with ABL's deterministic execution, provides a more robust and auditable solution for enterprise-critical workflows than Salesforce's potentially more opaque platform.

Glean Highlights Cost Efficiency in AI Agent Token Usage

WHAT HAPPENED
AI search startup Glean claims its tokens are 70% cheaper than Claude, and that Anthropic customers' bills are 80% higher than they need to be, positioning Glean as a cost-effective AI solution. (2026-09-02)  and (2026-09-01) The Information WHAT IT MEANS FOR KORE.AI
Glean is aggressively marketing cost savings in AI token usage, a potential concern for customers. Kore.ai's ABL's multi-model tiering and deterministic execution allow for predictable cost management and optimization, ensuring enterprises don't overpay for AI capabilities.

ON THE RADAR

Watch for

- Continued integration efforts by Genesys and Salesforce into their core platforms.
- Any further announcements from Glean regarding cost-optimization strategies for enterprise AI.
- NICE's progress in integrating Cognigy's capabilities into their broader CXone platform.

SO WHAT — DO THIS NOW

Recommended actions

- Emphasize Kore.ai's leadership in independent conversational AI evaluations (Gartner, Forrester) against platform plays like Genesys and Salesforce.
- Highlight ABL's deterministic execution and compile-time validation as a key differentiator for enterprise-grade, auditable AI workflows, contrasting with potential "prompt + custom code" vulnerabilities.
- Position Kore.ai's cost-efficiency through intelligent model tiering and predictable consumption, countering Glean's claims of token cost savings.
- Reinforce our true omnichannel capabilities against any voice-first or voice-centric narratives that may emerge.
